Kelvin Cup

The premier NIBU knock-out team competition open to any team of up to 6 players

The Kelvin Cup was originally presented by the Belfast Telegraph before the formation of the Northern Ireland Bridge Union as a trophy for the winner of an annual bridge match between England and Northern Ireland.

In 1959 the NIBU decided that the Kelvin Cup was to be awarded to the winning team in an annual knockout teams competition.

The original cup was lost in the late 1980s and was replaced by the present Kelvin Cup

Contract Bridge Journal June/July 1948 – ‘Notes from Northern Ireland’ by A J Fletcher – ‘There is only one event left outstanding as the Kelvin Cup completes the season’s activities. The donors of the Cup and the holders, the Kelvin Club, have reached the final....’
