You should self-alert and explain your bids as necessary including those over 3NT.

Do alert and explain before you bid.

BGB regulations state

“ Undos in the auction, until they are unrecoverable (i.e. your partner has bid), will be treated as the equivalent of a mechanical error using a bidding box and this will be at the discretion of the TD who must be called. (So did you hit the wrong bid while trying for the correct one?)

Undos in the play will not be permitted. Players are reminded of the option of using the double click function.”

You will be automatically moved for the next round and if you leave you will be returned to your position on logging in again – provided you use a consistent name each time.

At the end of the Tuesday session please remain logged in so that I can save the session for the following day. Then when you log in on Wednesday you will find your place reserved for you.
